

capability statement

By combining extensive experience with a focus on problem solving through applied ecology, Stringybark Consulting provides its clients with sound professional advice and exceptional levels of service.

Based on the Sunshine Coast in Queensland, our focus is on the provision of accurate advice to assist our clients to make appropriate and informed decisions, and achieve project financial and design objectives.

With 20 years industry experience, Stringybark Principal Cameron Milne has built a solid industry reputation, with a background in bush regeneration, reserve management and local and state government permits and approvals and planning. As a Certified Environmental Practitioner (CEnvP 0532), Cameron delivers senior leadership and quality outcomes for clients.

The company's environmental projects include a mix of strategic planning and policy advice projects, and detailed design and construction projects for a range of private and government clients. Stringybark Consulting is ideally positioned to lead the ecological reporting and environmental planning for your project.
